Additional Information

Financial Assistance: There are some costs associated with preparing your home for verification. These may include purchasing fire extinguishers or fire escape ladders, gas inspection, CPR/First Aid certification, TB tests, etc. Some agencies cover or provide assistance to help with these costs. Contact the agency to find out what type of financial assistance (if any) is offered.

Trauma-Informed Staff: Children (and adults) who have experienced trauma need compassionate professionals and caregivers who understand how trauma impacts a child's development. Organizations who utilize trauma-informed principles can help families access needed resources to help their children to heal. These resources may include trauma-informed counseling/therapy, parent coaching, in-home crisis intervention, videos, books, podcasts, and more.

Risk Assessments Considered: Risk assessments may be requested by an agency for an applicant who has a criminal history. These assessments are completed to determine if an applicant may still be eligible for licensure. Assessments may take 2-4 months to be processed.

Some agencies consider applicants who will require a risk assessment to be completed, and some agencies do not. Some will consider it on a case-by-case basis.

Additional Services: Many agencies offer additional programs and services that are useful to the children and families they serve. These may include post-adoption services, behavioral health programs, etc. Contact the agency for more information about the additional services they provide.
